Questions frequently asked by parents

What should I do if I think my child/young person may have special educational needs?

At Glenfield Infant school we are committed to early identification of special educational needs. A range of evidence is collected through the school assessment and monitoring arrangements: if this suggests that the learner is not making the expected progress, the teachers will decide whether additional and/or different provision is necessary. We use the graduated response to support with this (see other document on this page). If you are concerned, please speak to your child's teacher, or contact the SENDCo (Special educational needs and disabilities coordinator). There is a strong ethos of inclusion at Glenfield Infant School- children are equal at Glenfield and so parents must not worry about their children being treated unfavourably by the school through any process of identification.

How is the decision made about what type and how much support my child will receive?

Year leaders and the SENDCo hold regular team meetings where they discuss children's progress. Teachers attend termly meetings with a member of the senior leadership team where all children's progress is reviewed. If a child is identified as needing additional support the SENDCo is informed and in consultation with the class teacher extra provision is arranged.

How will staff at Glenfield support my child?

Your child's class teachers and the SENDCo will oversee and plan your child's education programme. Depending on the intervention required, your child may be working at times in a small group aimed at supporting their learning. Sometimes a pupil requires support to access the curriculum or to manage his or her behaviour, emotions, or to work on their social skills. In this case the ELSA (Emotional Literacy Support Assistant) may support your child to be a successful member of the school community. This will all be explained to you by your child's class teacher, the ELSA or SENDCo.

How will the curriculum be matched to my child's needs?

All our teachers are teachers of children with special educational needs. All teachers plan to include everyone in their lessons and work is provided at the appropriate levels for children to access their learning and make good progress. Planning is monitored rigorously by the Senior Leadership Team.

How will I know how my child is doing and how will you help me to support my child's learning?

We have an open door policy at Glenfield Infant School. There are termly parent evenings and you can ask for an appointment to speak with your child's class teacher or the SENDCo at a mutually convenient time. If appropriate, your child may have a Home School contact book. This will enable you and your child's teacher to keep each other informed about any significant events on a regular basis.

If your child has an Education Health and Care plan, an annual review is held according to the guidance in the SEND Code of Practice.

If your child is on the SEN register and has a specific learning need, he or she will have an Individual Education Plan (IEP). This will record the targets that your child is working towards, and will also show how he or she is making progress towards those targets. A copy of the IEP will be sent home every half term for your information. You will also receive a report at the end of the academic year and we will always ask to see you if we have concerns about your child's progress.

Each half term the school gives an overview of what your child will be learning during this period. This is available on the school website home page, under the Curriculum heading.

What support will there be for my child's overall well-being?

At Glenfield Infant School we hold regular assemblies which focus on different areas of personal, health and social education. In class, teachers may also hold class circle times when they need to address specific issues and we follow the SCARF programme and 'My Happy Mind'. Pupils are encouraged to take an active part in discussions and express their own views. We can also refer children to the school's Emotional Literacy Support Assistant (ELSA).

We will also help prepare your child for any changes in their school day, such as school trips, awards ceremonies, activities weeks and sports day.

What specialist services and expertise are available at or accessed by Glenfield Infant School?

In addition to high quality teaching in school, we have links with other professionals such as Child and Adolescent Mental Health, Social Care, Educational Psychology, Occupational Therapy, Speech and Language therapy, Mental Health in Schools Team, the school nurse and specialist teachers for children who have physical difficulties, specific learning difficulties and visual or hearing impairment.

What training has been available for the staff supporting children and young people with SEND?

Our SENCO is an experienced teacher who is currently gaining her SENCO accreditation. Our headteacher is also a qualified SENCO who also has a master's degree in special educational needs. Our SENCO attends an annual inclusion conference as well as regular SENDCo forums. All staff members receive regular training and updates for the main categories of special educational needs. We also have two members of staff who are currently taking part in the TAAES 5-year project. During the academic year 2024-2025 our staff have received training on use of the graduated response, writing individual education plans, Lego therapy, introduction to Makaton and precision teaching.

How will my child be included in activities outside the classroom including school trips?

We make every effort to include all pupils in school trips. If an individual risk assessment is required, we will write this in order to ensure that everyone is as fully included as possible. If there are concerns, we will always seek to make adaptations such as taking additional staff or in some cases asking parents to come along. However, in some exceptional cases your child may not be able to attend a school trip if it is not possible for them to participate safely.

How accessible is Glenfield Infant School?

We make reasonable adjustments wherever possible. We have a ramp at reception to enter the school. We have an accessible door to enter the main school hall. We have an accessible toilet next to the school office. Classes are assigned classrooms appropriate to any disabilities at the start of the year.

The school will make every attempt to ensure the environment, curriculum and resources are accessible for pupils with a disability.

How will Glenfield Infant School prepare and support my child to join the school and then transfer to a new school?

The SENDCO and teachers liaise with pre-schools, Junior School teaching staff, support staff and SENDCOs from feeder Pre-schools and schools. Extra transition takes place as necessary in addition to the City's transition days. This can be arranged for individual children or small groups and may include a number of visits and activities between pre-schools and Glenfield Infant School before the child changes school. Social stories are written for children who might find the change of transition challenging.

How are the school's resources allocated and matched to children's special educational needs?

The Department for Education provides funding for schools to meet the needs of all children with SEND. This is worked out using the information about the children's prior attainment and the socioeconomic make up of our school cohort. We allocate support according to need. Additional interventions are funded to support children's progress. If your child has an Education, Health and Care Plan, we will ensure that the provision specified in Part 3 is provided.
